

UYEN DANG

Marketing Coordinator

Uyen is an agile and resourceful individual who, like many of the young talents in our beloved industry, found her way into construction through an unexpected path. Transitioning from a background in higher education with no prior knowledge of construction, she serves as a powerful inspiration for young people exploring career options or uncertain about their potential opportunities in the industry. Her professional growth over just one year at innDex demonstrates that with passion and dedication, there is always room for progress and success in this dynamic field.
