

Driving sustainability conversations & action across the built environment

Since joining forces in 2024, Sustainabuild, an environmental networking organisation, and Building Relations PR, a specialist built environment communications agency, have built a fast-growing movement that combines grassroots accessibility with professional expertise, delivering high-impact events, thought leadership, and strategic communications.

From the launch of Sustainabuild's Breakfast Clubs in Edinburgh to its expansion across Scotland and into London, supported by engaging campaigns and strong media presence, this collaboration has united hundreds of professionals across disciplines to share best practice, gain CPD accreditation, and drive forward sustainable change.
